

Why are the sidewalks so high?

It was very unusual for a woman during the Victorian period to own a business, and especially a construction business. Elizabeth Warren stands out as an exceptional woman in this regard.

She built many of the sidewalks downtown that can be identified by her “Warren” imprint and the distinctive line along the side of the walks she built.

Elizabeth Warren imprinted her walks on the corner in a diagonal block.

The next time you walk downtown, observe carefully the sidewalks you are walking on. Look at the corners of the sidewalks for the Warren stamp. (Hint, 6th Street is a good street to find Warren sidewalks).
